

How I Used To Feel

You made my life a perfect dream
Filled with colors of every scheme

We made the perfect team

Oh Oh

I used to jump off trains for you
Paint the skies every shade of blue
I used to do everything for you (you-oo-oo)

I used to feel so happy

I used to feel so loved

But then you broke my heart,

And made it crumble up (uh-uh-up)

And now I feel so useless

A perfect fantasy no more

It all started when you walked out the door (door-or-or)

Now I live my life in shades of gray

Waiting for the day you'll have to pay

For the way you left me that day

It's like life came to a halt

Instead of tasting sugar, I taste salt

Then I remember that it's all your fault (fall-all-ault)

I used to feel so happy

I used to feel so loved

But then you broke my heart,

And made it crumble up (uh-uh-up)

And now I feel so useless

A perfect fantasy no more

It all started when you walked out the door (door-or-or)

One day somebody else will love me

One day all of the pain you caused,

Will be washed away without a kiss goodbye

One day you'll be a faded memory

One day I'll find somebody who won't walk out the door

I used to feel so happy
I used to feel so loved
But then you broke my heart,
And made it crumble up (uh-uh-up)
And now I feel so useless
A perfect fantasy no more
It all started when you walked out the...
Door
