Worried about your teen?

The Connection Youth Services is a program of the Livingston Family Center, a non-profit agency that assists teens and families in crisis. The Connection offers a continuum of services geared toward helping young people make good decisions in order to improve their lives.

Services offered include:

- Individual and family counseling
- Support groups
- Life skills classes
- Case Management services
- Drop-In
- Temporary housing for youth 11-17 years old that are in crisis, homeless, at-risk of running away, or needing a break
- Transitional living opportunities for homeless youth 16-20 years old.

All of The Connection's services are free of charge.

For more information contact The Connection 24/7 at (866)440-7233.
